Moonlight Pinta Raft-Up

The tradition continues for the 50th year, the infamous Pinta raft-up. Happy people, smiley faces, cheers over the finish line, sailing, paddling, socialising, making new friends, and of course reading the Cruise News each morning... this is our final full news for the 50th Cruise, with a late edition of the results out Thursday evening. Until next time, farewell.

SCUTTLEBUTT

Generations

I just recently turned 40 and the Easter cruise has become a bit of a tradition in the van O family. Each year I commit to at least a couple of days on 'Out of the Blue'. I only wish I could do more. What a great event! All walks of life being connected by this beautiful place, great laughs and undoubtedly, a number of bottles of plonk! Not only do I get a chance to get out on the water, a rare occurrence now being a dad myself with 2 young children, I also get to hang out with Dad, Steve and Kars. An unlikely, 'motley crew', who have friendships that span 40+ years.

I hope that i can enjoy a bottle of red with my kids in the years to come, on the Squadie Easter cruise, with my mates of 40+ years.

See you all again next year!! Out of the Blue, Derk van Ogtrop

Swannos new hearing aids kindly made by the Nand V crew after the brand new ones went for a swim at Hallets Beach on saturday. Fish hearing well off Hallets now!

HISTORY

Women's Weekly - 27 May 1970

AT LEFT: Youngest crew member of the fleet, 2½-month-old Caroline Hill, with her mother, Mrs. Peter Hill, brother Martin (centre), and Stephen Morton on the Hills' yacht, Boomerang VII, at Careel Bay. Mrs. Hill says baby Caroline loves shipboard life and has been in all the races with the family except the ocean races.

AT RIGHT: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ingate on board their yacht, Caprice, with their son, Stephen, centre back, and young friends Robert Mitchell, seated, and Tony Hearder, standing. The Ingates and their crew were lining up for the sixth race of the cruise.

SQUADRON CRUISE

● Yachtsmen took their wives, their children, and in some cases their dogs on the one-week 1970 Squadron Cruise arranged by the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron. Boats sailed from Kirribilli to the RSYS base in Careel Bay, Pittwater, and during the week raced on Pittwater and on Lake Macquarie. Family outings included barbecues, which were held in the evenings after the racing.
