

ROYAL SYDNEY YACHT SQUADRON FOUNDATION

RSYS Future Fund

In 2018, the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron (RSYS) Foundation relaunched the Endowment Fund now to be known as the RSYS Future Fund.

The RSYS Foundation is the overarching fundraising body for the Squadron and will seek donations in support of the endowed RSYS Future Fund, specific projects for both Sailing and Clubhouse initiatives and for a long-term capital development Master Plan.

The RSYS Future Fund has been established to help build a capital base to allow the Squadron to create a long-term invested corpus to support major works for both on and off water activities. The trust deed states that the first $1.25 million invested in the fund will be invested into perpetuity and this capital base cannot be used, however the investment income from this base can be used for general purpose by the RSYS to assist with development costs.

At the heart of its Constitution, the Club has the responsibility to continue to support and promote the sport of sailing and to deliver the best facilities for all current and future generations of Members. Member donations will allow us to seed the RSYS Future Fund to ensure the Club lives up to that responsibility and to help grow a long-term investment fund that will build on our proud 156-year heritage.

The Club seeks the support of all Members to gift an average donation of $1,500 to seed the RSYS Future Fund. This is a voluntary donation request with an option of donating more or less.

The RSYS Foundation partnership with the Australian Sports Foundation (ASF) enables all donations above $2 to have tax-deductible status and donations will be receipted and sent to you by the ASF for your records.

By gifting a tax-deductible donation to the RSYS Future Fund today, we can initiate this $1.25 million investment base that will create a permanent funding mechanism to underpin the long-term financial strength of the RSYS.

The Trustees of the RSYS Foundation and all Members, thank you for your individual contribution and ongoing loyalty and membership of the Squadron.
