BAROSSA VALLEY

Torbreck Vintners of the Barossa Valley, SA, sources fruit from a variety of old vines in the wine growing region. Torbreck creates wines from only select vineyards, carefully monitoring fruit from its various sites for final production.

A blend of modern and traditional technique is employed to create their wines. While the vineyard sites and unique fruit characters are respected highly, innovation in the winery allow wines of intensity, concentration and power to be created in the Torbreck house style. Judicious use of oak, natural fermentation and minimal influence take place.

SOMETHING SPECIAL...

Founded in 2015 by Adam Carpenter and Wes Heddles, Prohibition was born out of ideas and values behind its namesake – that gin was the drink that dominated the 1920's and that despite its banned existence, still united people together. Adam and Wes wanted to make a great gin and share it with the people. With some help from Brendan of Applewood Distillery, they brought their gin into being. They are now one of the bigger names coming out of South Australia with a loyal following.

Jean Boyer

The Jean Boyer Company was founded in 1994 to offer its customers quality spirits. They work directly with producers all over the world to offer authentic products, hand selecting to guarantee their excellence.

Tomatin is a remote Highland distillery located up in the Monadhliath Mountains near Inverness in Scotland. The distillery, known then as the Tomatin Spey District Distillery Ltd, was officially established in 1897 during the height of the Victorian Whisky Boom. Like several other distilleries, Tomatin had its ups and downs and luckily a lifeline in the late '80's allowed Tomatin to produce excellent whisky – they are still one of Scotland's top 10 malt whisky distilleries. Their efforts have paid off, winning awards and gold medals as recently as 2021.
